

WINTER bucket list

Whether you're stuck indoors or venturing out into the cold, why not make the most of the winter weather? The snow and the cold create great opportunities for you to take part in fun indoor and outdoor activities! From cooking with family to skiing with friends, there's so much you can do to embrace the season. Be sure to check these winter-fun activities off your list!

BUILD A SNOWMAN

Winter is here and you what that means, it's time for snow! No matter how you feel about the snow and cold, take part in one of the most fun winter activities: building a snowman! Grab some accessories, get creative with the designs, and have some fun in the snow!

HOST A GAME NIGHT

Nothing brings friends and family closer than teaming up and having fun! What better way to do this than bonding and laughing over a heated game of cards, or a competitive round of your favorite board game? Pick out some of your favorite games and get ready for an entertaining night!

LEARN HOW TO KNIT

Since it will be freezing outside for quite a while, now is the perfect time to learn how to knit! A knitted hat and scarf are perfect for when you're bundling up to brave the cold. For those frosty mornings when you're staying indoors, try out a cozy blanket or coaster for your cup of coffee, the possibilities are endless!

VISIT YOUR LOCAL LIBRARY

Libraries are perfect for checking out a variety of books and movies, but they have even more to offer! Visit your local library to see what kinds of activities are happening in your community.

TAKE A COOKING CLASS

If you have always wanted to learn how to cook, or are looking for some pointers on preparing dishes, sign up for a cooking class! Winter is the perfect time to learn how to make something new, and test out a variety of recipes that are sure to keep you warm!
