Tea Worth Reading

In recent news, the NFL has banned kneeling for the National Anthem. Many popular players were taking a knee to show support for the end of racism and police brutality. America is known to be a free country, evolving from slavery to freedom. Everyone has a different opinion on the matter, believing that this is a free country and everyone is allowed to express their own opinion. Others think it's disrespectful to America and we should respect our nation for what it stands for.

The Black Lives Matter movement was created in 2013. The movement has continued to grow and fight back against the systematic oppression of minorities face daily.

“It’s wrong (to ban them)” -Karli Clark

“Great, you should (have to stand)”

-Ellie Kenna

The first amendment is possibly the most important amendment. Without it we wouldn't be the America we are today. But where do our rights stop and others begin?
